DISCOVER E MAX

Ceramic artistry inspired by natural enamel

E max is a lithium disilicate ceramic used for highly aesthetic veneers and restorations. It combines reliable strength with a refined, enamel-like appearance.

Designed around you

Every smile plan considers facial proportions, tooth shade, lip line and bite - not just tooth colour.

TWO AESTHETIC APPROACHES

Monolithic E max

Milled from a single solid piece of lithium disilicate using CAD CAM technology, then surface stained. It offers high mechanical strength with more limited optical translucency and colour graduation.

Layered E max

The core is partially cut back, then the incisal edge and enamel porcelain are layered by hand. This allows the dental technician to create maximum biomimetic aesthetics and lifelike translucency.

Your dentist recommends the technique based on tooth position, bite forces, available enamel and aesthetic goals.

WHY PATIENTS CHOOSE E MAX

- Lifelike translucency Light interacts with the ceramic in a way that resembles natural enamel.
- Custom shade and shape Each restoration is planned to complement your face and smile.
- Metal free A ceramic solution with no dark metal margin.
- Conservative option When clinically suitable, veneers can require minimal tooth reduction.
- Durable finish Careful planning, bonding and maintenance support lasting results.
